13	Purpose/aim/objective and outcome of the event	Aim: The session aims to enhance student’s analytical, presentation and communication skills. Outcome: Conducting seminars and group discussions enhances students' critical thinking, communication, and collaboration skills. These activities foster deeper understanding, encourage diverse perspectives, and improve confidence in expressing ideas.
14	Complete Activity Report (Description) The seminar and group discussion activity conducted in the classroom proved to be a highly engaging and insightful session. A total of 37 B.com TY (Foreign Trade & Computer Application) students participated, demonstrating enthusiasm and a keen interest in the topic. The session began with an introductory seminar where key concepts were presented to provide students with foundational knowledge. This was followed by group discussions in which students were divided into smaller teams to analyze and debate different aspects of the topic. Throughout the activity, students actively contributed their ideas, listened to their peers, and engaged in meaningful discussions. Overall, the seminar and group discussion activity successfully enhanced students' analytical and communication skills. It provided them with a platform to voice their thoughts, respect differing opinions, and deepen their comprehension of the subject matter. The positive outcomes of this session suggest that similar interactive learning activities should be conducted regularly to further develop students' intellectual and social abilities.
