	Objectives: The main objective of conducting a debate activity in college is to develop students' critical thinking and analytical abilities. Through debate, students learn to examine different viewpoints, organize their thoughts logically, and present their arguments in a clear and convincing manner. It also helps in improving communication and public speaking skills, which are essential for academic and professional success Outcome: The outcome of conducting a debate activity in college is the overall development of students' intellectual and communication skills. Through participation in debates, students gain confidence in expressing their thoughts and opinions clearly in front of an audience. They learn how to present arguments logically, support their views with relevant information, and respond effectively to opposing viewpoints.

Complete Activity Report (Description)

. The debate activity on the topic “Freelancing is Better than Full-Time Jobs” was conducted for the students of B.Com Third Year (A Division) during the regular lecture at 9:00 a.m. in Classroom (Hall No. 46). Dr. Ausekar K. D., the subject teacher, was in charge of the activity. A total of 56 students attended the lecture and actively participated in the activity. The students participated enthusiastically and showed great excitement throughout the session. The activity aimed to encourage students to express their views, develop critical thinking, and improve their communication and public speaking skills. Students were divided into two groups: one group supported the statement that freelancing is better than full-time jobs, while the other group opposed it. Overall, the debate was informative and engaging. It encouraged students to think critically about career choices and understand the advantages and challenges of both freelancing and full-time employment.
